
Keep your summaries of this paper brief, but describe the “chain reactions” that Jones et al. try to establish. Think about them in terms of competition, exploitation, and mutualism, as well as direct and indirect effects. Draw a diagram of the interactions. Also be sure to read all of the footnotes, as they are rich in methodological information.

Find and read one article that cites Jones et al. that looks interesting to you or addresses your questions described above. Provide the citation and the abstract appended to your response. Let me know if you need help. (ISI web of science should make this remarkably easy).